

“Product of a research project that aims to develop new procedures and tools empowering the individual to manage and interpret his/her genome data and actively maintain his/her own health.”

Procedure

Web-interphase

Graphical and numerical representation of personal risk for cardiovascular disease. This interactive risk prediction model is based on both traditional and genetic risk factors.